An inspirational study of how to live more sustainably – and well – based on the experience of both ordinary and extraordinary lives

Ever since the 1950s, IKEA retailers have visited homes all over the world to find out more about how we live. Inspired by this approach, Inter IKEA Systems and Phaidon have teamed up to explore the greatest challenge of our generation – living sustainably – through the lives of activists, artists, athletes, entrepreneurs and many more. Achieving a more sustainable life at home is one of the most pressing social and environmental challenges we face today as a society. Together with the IKEA family, we visit homes, workplaces, and shared spaces from Mexico to Moscow, Bali to Beirut, to find ways in which we can improve how we live. Our everyday actions might seem inconsequential, but the future of our planet starts with us.

Maisie Skidmore is a writer and editor specializing in fashion, art, and design, and their intersection in contemporary culture. She is the editor of Noon, a biannual magazine that explores art and commerce, and a contributing editor of Apartmento, an everyday life interiors magazine. She is based in London.

Key Selling Points

- An exploration of how to achieve a more sustainable life at home, presented through the lens of six themes – time, space, food, rest, play, and togetherness
- Twelve 'Life Visits' feature a diverse group of individuals and families around the world, revealing how people today can live with environmental issues in mind
- The book highlights iconic products throughout IKEA's history that epitomize the company's commitment to democratic design and sustainability
- Engaging interviews, beautiful imagery, and thoughtful essays will inspire readers to take small actions at home that have a positive impact on the planet
- With a foreword by Peter, Mathias, and Jonas Kamprad, sons of Ingvar Kamprad, IKEA's founder

A History of the World (in Dingbats)

Drawings & Words

David Byrne

The phenomenally creative musician and filmmaker David Byrne presents drawings that explore daily life in surprising ways

Through striking and humorous figurative drawings, the iconic artist and musician David Byrne depicts daily life in intriguing ways. His illustrations, created while under quarantine, expand on the dingbat, a typographic ornament used to illuminate or break up blocks of text, to explore the nuances of life under lockdown and evoke the complex, global systems the pandemic cast in bright light. Edited and designed by Alex Kalman, in close collaboration with Byrne, this unique book reflects on shared experiences and presents history as a story that is continually undergoing revision.

David Byrne's practice spans photography, performance, drawing, illustration, video, design, and publishing. In 1975 he cofounded the seminal group Talking Heads. Byrne's exuberant and radical creativity has challenged classifications of art for decades. Alex Kalman is a curator, designer, editor, journalist, and filmmaker. He is the owner of What Studio? and director of Mmuseumm.

Key Selling Points

- An engaging and inspiring collection of line drawings from world-renowned creative David Byrne that explores and challenges familiar elements of daily life
- Pace Gallery will open a major exhibition of Byrne's work in parallel with the book's release
- Byrne is a proven bestselling author. His Bicycle Diaries was a Los Angeles Times bestseller and his How Music Works was a New York Times bestseller as well as an Amazon Editors' pick and a Best Book of the Month
- Byrne's hit Tony Award-winning theatrical concert American Utopia was adapted by Spike Lee into a concert film that premiered on HBO and received multiple Emmys

'One constant of David Byrne's long and prolific career is his ability to grow a seemingly simple idea into something brilliant. . . . What is perhaps most remarkable is his ability to keep coming up [with] new ideas that seem obvious, but obviously aren't.'
- Variety

'David Byrne is perspicacious – a canny mix of smarts and wonder.'
- Salon

'The former Talking Heads front man is still letting his roving mind guide him to uncharted places. . . . Mostly, Byrne wants to invite us in to his happy, peculiar world. . . .'
- New Yorker

'David Byrne is one of popular culture's great polymaths: a musician, producer, artist, actor, author, record label owner, and filmmaker.'
- Guardian

'Pioneering or propheteering, Byrne has been on the front-line of musical evolution for forty-five years. . . . constantly imagining, "What if?"'

Celebrate Portugal's vibrant, globally-influenced – and influential – food culture via 450 classic and contemporary recipes

Currently the hottest travel destination for food lovers, Portugal boasts an incredible culinary legacy forged by centuries of world exploration. Portuguese cuisine takes the country's natural bounty and weaves in techniques and ingredients discovered along its pioneering 16th-century trade routes throughout South America, Asia, and Africa. Here, for the first time, is a truly comprehensive and accessible collection of Portuguese recipes for home cooks everywhere – from seafood dishes from the Algarve and hearty Douro Valley stews to Lisbon's legendary pastries.

Leandro Carreira cut his culinary teeth at Andoni Luis Aduriz's restaurant, Mugaritz, before arriving in London and working with Nuno Mendes at Viajante as Head Chef. His residency at Climpson's Arch in London received five-star reviews. His restaurant Londrino opened in London in 2017 and his current project, The Sea, The Sea, in Chelsea has been followed by The Sea, The Sea Chef's Table in late 2021.

Key Selling Points

- Celebrates Portugal's compact beauty and regional food and wines – from its mountainous north to its glorious Atlantic coastline, lush inland vineyards, and the unique offerings of the Azores islands
- Recipes range from the iconic – salt-cod fritters, chicken pies, custard tarts – to lesser-known dishes – salt-cured tuna, eel stew, egg-yolk candies, and more, reflecting centuries of the country's interaction with China, India, Africa, Brazil, and beyond
- Includes stunning images of final dishes and atmospheric landscapes, plus acclaimed chef/author Leandro Carreira's introduction, which charts Portugal's compelling food history, and guest recipes by leading Portuguese chefs from around the world
- The ideal book for the Portuguese diaspora – from America's coasts to Australia and South Africa – as well as cooks of all levels of expertise

The first survey of Japanese design as seen through the lens of the Japan's traditional color spectrum

The traditional colors of Japan have been in use since the seventh century, originally to indicate rank and social hierarchy but, over time, their significance has broadened to include all manner of designed objects. This landmark volume celebrates a curated selection of 200 colors (iro in Japanese), with each shade illustrated by one or more items – ranging from 16th-century kimonos to contemporary chairs, humble kitchen utensils to precious ceramics – and providing a unique route to a deeper appreciation of Japanese design.

Rossella Menegazzo is Associate Professor of the History of East Asian Art at the University of Milan, with a PhD in Oriental Studies from Ca' Foscari University, Venice. She is the author of numerous texts on Japanese photography, graphic design, and traditional ukiyo-e art, and curator of several exhibitions. Menegazzo is a regular contributor to national newspapers in Italy, writing articles on Japanese culture and art. In 2017 she was appointed with the Japanese Foreign Minister's Commendation.

Key Selling Points

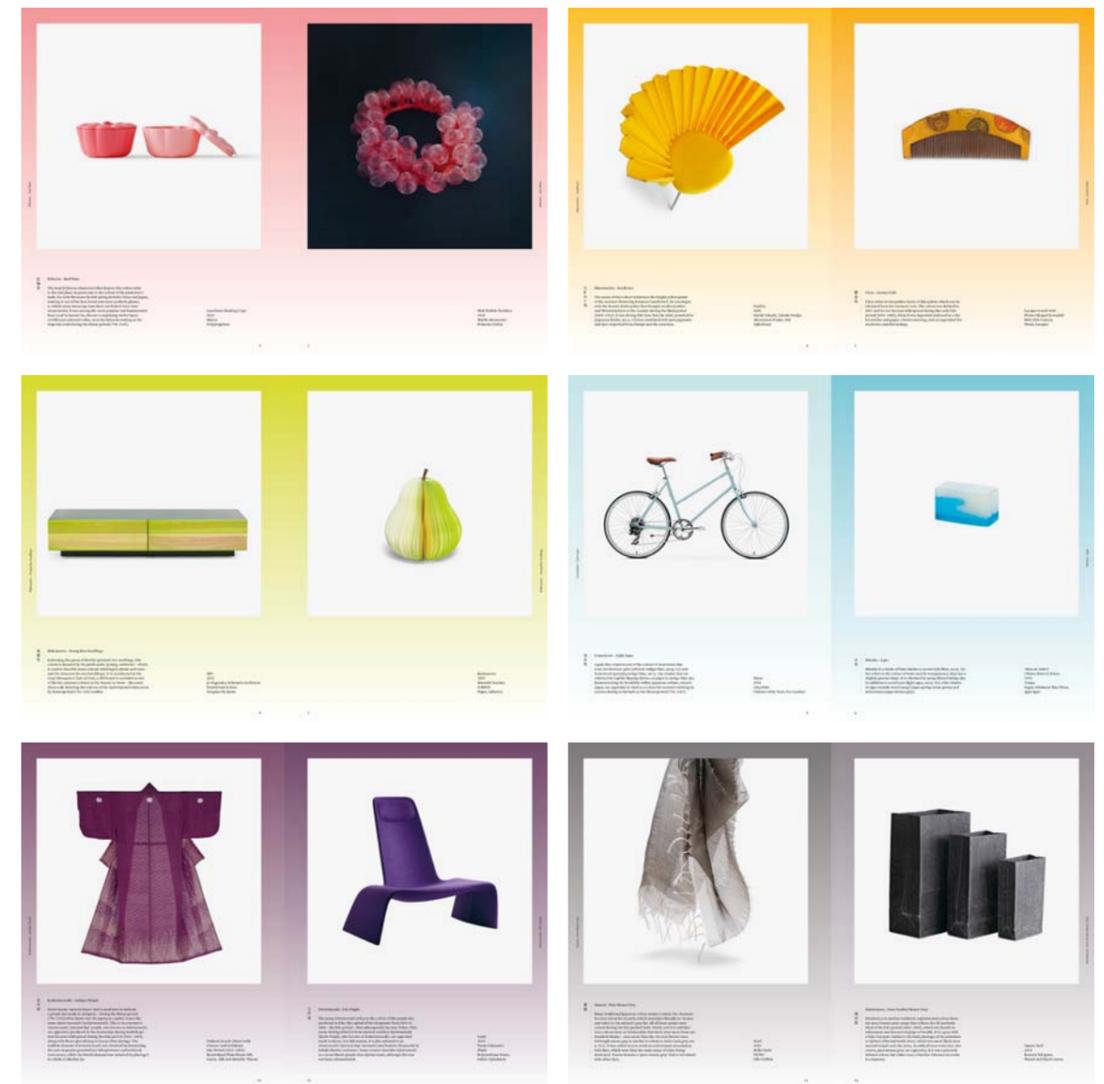

- This is the first book to present the rich history of Japanese design through its traditional color spectrum
- Features product and furniture designs from Japan's most eminent creatives – including Naoto Fukasawa, Issey Miyake, and Reiko Sudo – as well as lesser-known and unnamed talents who have shaped the country's singular and enduring design legacy
- Each color is contextualised in a short descriptive text, explaining its origins and influence within the world of design and beyond
- Written by Rossella Menegazzo, co-author of Wa: The Essence of Japanese Design, Phaidon's iconic and bestselling design survey
- Printed on craft paper and bound in a traditional Japanese style, the book itself is a beautiful object sure to inspire all design aficionados

The Japanese Garden

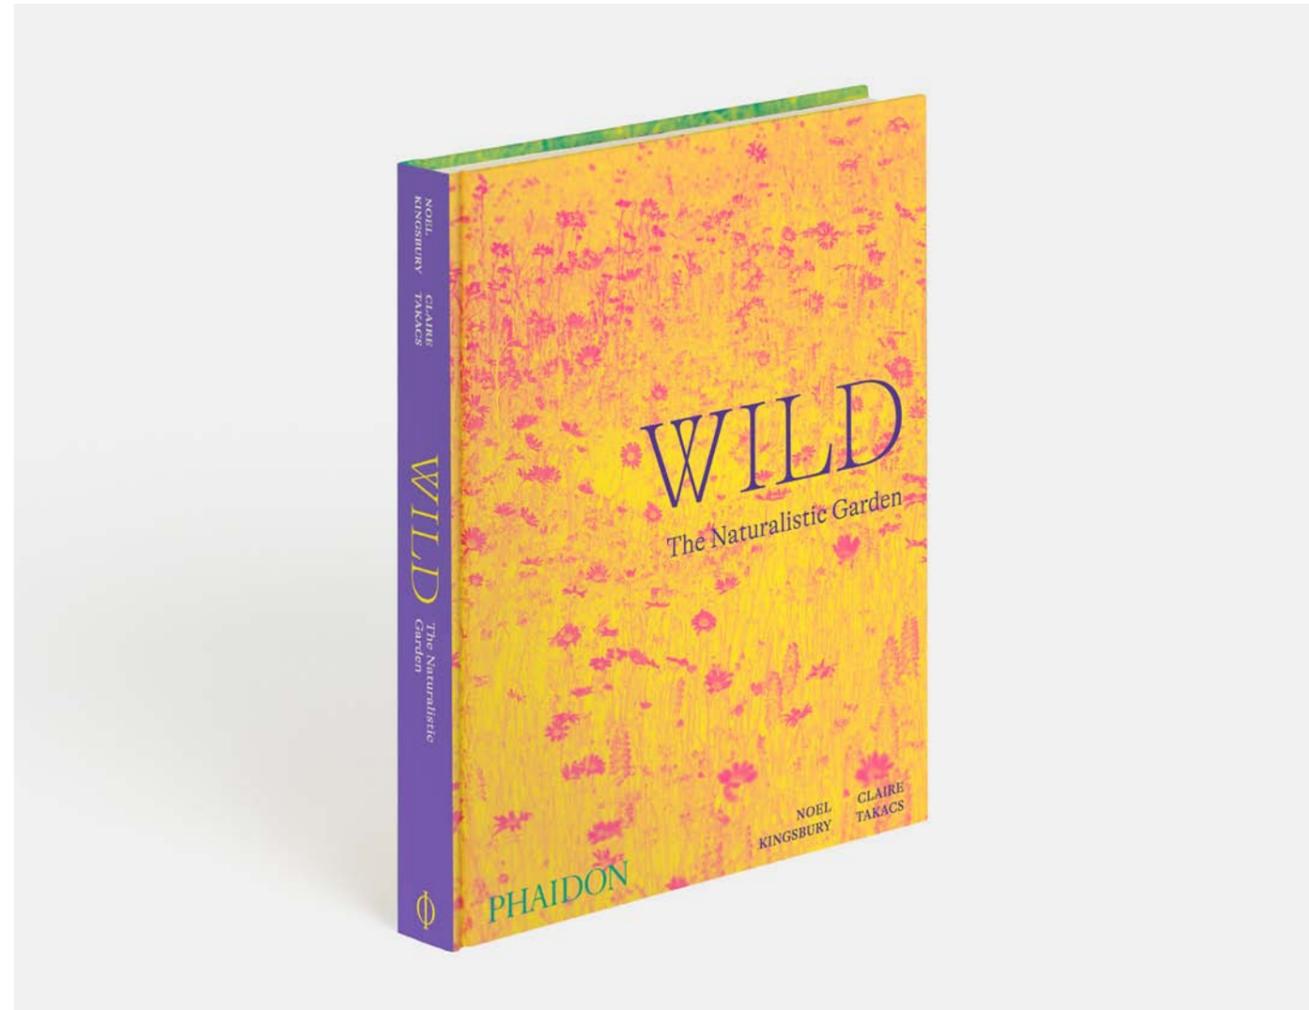

Japan: The Cookbook

A stunning exploration of one of the hottest trends in garden design: nature-based planting with an eco-aware approach

Forget the mild, manicured gardens of the past: planting today is undergoing a revolution in taste and aesthetics. This is the first comprehensive overview of a new planting approach that is wild and natural by nature, reflecting the global turn towards sustainability and the current zeitgeist in garden design. Featuring over 40 gardens – from a perennial meadow in Somerset, England to a private, drought-resistant garden in Australia – each garden in this stunning book is brought to life with beautiful photography and insightful text.

Noel Kingsbury is a planting-design consultant and a prolific writer on gardens and naturalistic planting, with over 20 books to his name. He is based in Portugal, where he is developing an experimental garden. Claire Takacs is an award-winning garden photographer who has visited and photographed some of the best and most innovative gardens around the world. Her work is featured in numerous books and leading magazines.

Key Selling Points

- An essential reference for garden and planting designers, and an inspirational and insightful resource for amateur gardeners
- Featuring a diverse range of gardens, with some published for the first time – from small urban spaces in New Zealand and private gardens in France, to prairie-style and meadow gardens in the UK and US
- Features the work of leading global designers, including Dan Pearson (UK), Olivier Filippi (France), Piet Oudolf (Netherlands), and Sean Hogan (USA), as well as gardens created by private owners and makers
- Illustrated with stunning newly-commissioned images by one of the world's leading garden photographers
- Insightful text and informative captions written by a global expert on planting – Noel Kingsbury writes, teaches, and lectures on gardens and planting around the world

'The fashion for planting has been naturalistic for a number of years, but now rather than just looking natural, planting schemes are literally getting wilder, which is beneficial for wildlife.' – House & Garden

'Through subtle design and educated plantsmanship, Dan Pearson has transformed the tradition of British naturalistic planting into a dynamic, contemporary form.' – Tim Richardson, Garden Design

'The signature Oudolf style calls for drifts of grasses, perfectly appropriate perennials, and garden beds that look beautiful even in the depths of winter.' – Gardenista on Piet Oudolf's planting style

'Gardens have become less "garden-like" in recent years – at least at the cutting edge of design. What this means in practice is the blurring of the boundaries between garden and landscape, and the use of a palette of plants with a "naturalistic" look and feel.' – Gardens Illustrated

Inspiration for planting throughout the year – from one of today’s most globally-inspiring and much-loved garden writers

Acclaimed bestselling author Anna Pavord selects 60 ‘star plants’ – from tulips to hydrangeas – and pairs each with two perfect partners: shrubs, herbaceous perennials, bulbs, and annuals that no garden should be without. Now totally revised and fully updated for a new readership, this classic book reveals how best to group plants in a garden to create a year-long display. The suggestions offered in this extraordinary book give gardeners creative plant combinations that will help to decide, season by season, what to plant with what for best effect.

Anna Pavord’s books include her globally bestselling The Tulip and The Naming of Names. Her gardening column in the Independent newspaper in the UK ran for 30 years from the paper’s launch in 1986 until the last print edition. Today she writes for the Sunday Times and is an Associate Editor of Gardens Illustrated magazine. Pavord lives in West Dorset and was awarded the Gold Veitch medal from the Royal Horticultural Society in 2001.

Key Selling Points

- An essential reference and inspirational resource for all plant lovers – revised and updated for today’s gardeners and as authoritative as ever
- Showcases more than 150 plants, including both much-loved garden icons together with lesser-known impactful plants and flowers – all captured in glorious color photography
- Easy-to-use seasonal combinations, for year-round impact and generous display in the garden
- Relevant to, and appropriate for, gardeners and garden fans alike
- Beautifully written by one of today’s most highly regarded voices on the subject – Pavord is beloved by readers worldwide for her books on plants and gardening, including the global bestseller The Tulip

Ferran Adrià's eIBullifoundation uses colazione to explore the concept of breakfast, using the rigorous 'Sapiens' methodology

This in-depth encyclopedic volume, from world-renowned chef Ferran Adrià's think tank the eIBullifoundation, provides the last word on the first meal of the day. From what breakfast comprises to where it is served and consumed, its history, and how it differs around the globe, this book is the ultimate companion for all chefs and serious food enthusiasts. Guided by the unique 'Sapiens' methodology, and with the breakfast of Italy as its foundation, this valuable reference work redefines the way we look at what is regarded by many as the most important meal of the day.

Ferran Adrià joined the staff of eIBulli restaurant in 1984 and rapidly progressed to head chef, earning three Michelin stars and numerous other accolades. Famous for his pioneering culinary techniques, he has been widely applauded and imitated. Since eIBulli's closure in 2011, Adrià has been lecturing around the world and developing his eIBullifoundation, a culinary academy and think tank, on the site of the former eIBulli, outside Barcelona.

Key Selling Points

- The result of years of extensive in-depth research by Ferran Adrià's eIBullifoundation and experts from around the world
- Adrià is a leading voice in the study of food culture – his unique 'Sapiens' methodology provides a unique and exhaustive examination of whatever subject it tackles
- Packed with compelling infographics, diagrams, and illustrations to give new insights and revelations and with a stunning jacket designed by Maurizio Cattelan
- Ideal for culinary professionals, scholars, and food enthusiasts
- An intriguing addition to Phaidon's Ferran Adrià library alongside A Day at eIBulli, The Family Meal, What is Cooking, The Origins of Cooking, and Unelaborated Products

145 simple and delicious vegan recipes from celebrated Icelandic cook and culinary celebrity/entrepreneur Solla Eiríksdóttir

For Solla Eiríksdóttir the key to successful vegan cooking is simple: easy-to-make recipes that are tasty and delicious. Here, she shows how to make great vegan food at home for all kinds of occasions, whether a quick work-day lunch or special dinners with friends. The perfect book for a modern, plant-based lifestyle, its three sections cover: Basics (vegan staples such as nut milks and tofu); Everyday (breakfast through to dinner); and Celebrations, which spotlights a meal strategy for larger events.

Solla Eiríksdóttir is a highly respected Icelandic chef who for 40 years has specialised in vegan and plant-based food. For nearly 20 years, Solla directed an organic food brand and owned and ran Iceland's most popular vegetarian restaurant, Gló. She has written many cookbooks, taught vegetarian cooking on television, and gives demonstrations every year at The Longevity conference in Los Angeles.

The Wellness Principles

Cooking for a Healthy Life

Gary Deng, MD, PhD

From a world-renowned doctor, an accessible guide with recipes for healthy living – to eat well, live well, and stay well

For the first time, Gary Deng MD, PhD presents to a general readership his unique, highly respected wellness approach, which is supported by scientific evidence and beloved by his patients. Taking into account his learnings after years in clinical medicine at the world's premier cancer center, combined with his passion for nourishing home cooking, Deng's authoritative guide to balanced and mindful eating and living includes both 100 recipes and expert advice beyond the plate. It incorporates traditional and holistic medical philosophies as the path towards optimal health.

Gary Deng, MD, PhD, is the Director of Integrative Medicine at the prestigious Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center in New York, where he has pioneered a program to focus on a holistic approach to health. He integrates an evidence-based medical and scientific approach with both Eastern and Western philosophies of self-care, and at the core of his mission is nutrition and understanding what we should eat and why.

Key Selling Points

- Easy-to-follow advice from an esteemed expert who has dedicated his life to treating cancer patients and navigating them through recovery and into wellness
- With 100 nutritious and delicious tested recipes for the home cook – each with user-friendly icons, pairing suggestions, and a finished-dish photograph
- Extensive text and tips from the author about how to be your best self: medical and scientific knowledge about staying healthy, informed by his expertise in nutrition and wellness
- An everyday cookbook for today's fast-paced lifestyle – many recipes are ready in 30 minutes or fewer

'When Dr. Gary Deng sits down with a new patient to discuss their goals and how integrative medicine can fit into their overall treatment plan, he likens his work to taking care of a plant. "With the right amount of water, sunshine, fertilizer, and soil – a plant will thrive. That's what integrative medicine is looking to do, but with an entire person," says Deng. [. .]

Through lifestyle changes such as optimizing diet, managing stress, and getting more active, Deng and his colleagues work to improve quality of life, reduce symptoms associated with treatment, and keep people both mentally and physically fit.'
– Melanoma Research Alliance

'Everything we eat contributes to a chemical environment in the body [. . .] Patients always ask if they should be eating anything specific such as blueberries or broccoli. I tell them yes – all of these have a place in a healthy diet, but there is no one magic ingredient. The key is diversity.'

An exclusive insight into the work of the celebrated chef and her three-Michelin-starred London restaurant

Clare Smyth is one of Britain's most highly regarded chefs, and her restaurant Core, in London's Notting Hill, is celebrated worldwide. Smyth's approach is one of superlative elegance, redefining modern British food in its own terms. Core showcases Britain's most outstanding produce in a relaxed setting, providing an exceptional fine-dining experience. Smyth's debut book comprises a collection of stories about ingenuity, nostalgia, wit, and craft, told through Core's tasting menu.

Clare Smyth MBE grew up in Northern Ireland. She has trained in some of the most celebrated kitchens in the world, and she was Chef Patron at Restaurant Gordon Ramsay from 2012 to 2016. Smyth is the Chef Patron of Core by Clare Smyth which opened in 2017. In 2018 she was named the World's Best Female Chef by the World's 50 Best Restaurants. Kieran Morris is a highly regarded feature writer who specialises in long-form features, profiles, interviews, and essays.

Key Selling Points

- The latest in Phaidon's acclaimed series of chef monographs captures Smyth's singular passion, experience, and pursuit of excellence, which led to her becoming World's Best Female Chef in 2018
- Features more than 60 recipes for key dishes created by Smyth and served at Core, such as Lamb Carrot and Notting Hill Forest, alongside 70 recipes for basics including stocks, sauces, and breads
- With a foreword by chef Gordon Ramsay and stunning photography by Nathan Snoddon, which follows the journey from field to plate, celebrating the passion and commitment of Core's suppliers and the beauty of the finished dish
- In 2018, Core was named Best Restaurant at the GQ Food and Drink Awards. Smyth catered for the private reception at the wedding of Prince Harry, Duke of Sussex, and Meghan, Duchess of Sussex

An essential and engaging collection of facts, figures, and findings about art, artists, and the art world – past and present

This extraordinary compendium of compelling facts, figures, and findings gathers and distils obscure and fascinating information about art, artists, and the art world. You will learn:

- which artist's work is stolen most often (Picasso)
- names of artists' pets: Fat Fat & Cous-Cous (Louise Nevelson's cats), Giotto and Goya (John Baldessari's dogs)
- artist couples (Nancy Rubins and Chris Burden; Niki de Saint Phalle and Jean Tinguely; Dorothea Tanning and Max Ernst)
- things artists collect: prosthetic arms and legs (Sophie Calle), glass eyes (Hiroshi Sugimoto)
- odd jobs and side hustles: telephone marketer (Tomma Abts), crop duster (James Turrell)
- artists who were rejected from art school (Judy Chicago, Francisco Goya, Auguste Rodin)
- ... and hundreds of other miscellaneous details.

Thoughtfully and thoroughly researched, this intriguing book offers refreshing and surprising perspectives on the world of art.

Key Selling Points

- An antidote to the torrent of dense information we navigate daily: curious and specific details are presented in an easy-to-browse and entertaining format
- This is the first time these facts, figures, and findings – typically scattered in profiles and interviews, biographies, and monographs – have been collected in one portable and compelling volume
- The smart and striking bespoke typographic design – with lists, charts, and other infographics – enables readers to devour this captivating collection in short bursts or to absorb themselves from cover to cover
- An ideal gift and valuable reference for the graduate, artist, art student, professor, curator, museum visitor, gallery owner, collector, and all lovers of art and miscellany

Faith Ringgold: American People

Published in association with the New Museum

Edited by Massimiliano Gioni and Gary Carrion-Murayari

The most comprehensive survey to date of the work of Ringgold, whose groundbreaking art and activism spans five-plus decades

Faith Ringgold is a critically acclaimed and key figure of postwar American art, whose unique methods of visual storytelling have documented and advanced art historical, feminist, and civil-rights movements for more than half a century. Accompanying a major retrospective at the New Museum, New York, this expansive survey covers work from all periods of her career, including early oil paintings and posters capturing American racial tensions in the 1960s and 1970s, powerful public demonstrations for more equitable representation in museums, and her signature story quilts that upend traditional art narratives.

Key Selling Points

- The most comprehensive survey to date on trailblazing artist Faith Ringgold, whose work bridges art, activism, feminism, and civil rights
- Includes work from all periods of her career spanning painting, sculpture, posters, painted story quilts, and children's books
- Features 11 essays by renowned art historians, curators, and artists, who offer insight into Ringgold's influence, along with an interview with the artist

Accompanies a highly anticipated retrospective exhibition opening at the New Museum in New York in February 2022.

Ringgold is represented by ACA Galleries, New York. Her work is in the collections of the Museum of Modern Art in New York and the National Museum of American Art in Washington, D.C., among others

The first complete survey of the work of the much-loved and collected contemporary Italian multimedia artist Paola Pivi

Probably best known for her playful, complex installations of life-sized, brightly-hued, feathered polar bears, Paola Pivi has created work across a range of media – including sculpture, video, photography, performance, and installation – throughout her 27-year career. Often using recognisable objects that are modified to introduce new scale, material, or color, her work challenges viewers to rethink their position. This in-depth monograph, made with the close involvement of the artist, is her most substantial publication to date.

Paola Pivi received the Golden Lion Award at the Venice Biennale in 1999 and has since had many solo museum exhibitions worldwide, most recently: Arken Museum, Denmark (2020); MAXXI, Rome (2019); and SCAD, Savannah, GA (2018). Justine Ludwig is Executive Director of Creative Time. A former curator at Dallas Contemporary and the Contemporary Arts Center, Cincinnati, she has curated projects with many artists, including Pivi.

Key Selling Points

- The first complete survey of Paola Pivi's diverse and approachable body of work, with more than 250 images, including previously unpublished artworks
- With five new essays by leading curators: José Carlos Diaz (Chief Curator, The Andy Warhol Museum); Julie Decker (Director/CEO, Anchorage Museum); Leilani Lynch (Curator, The Bass); Justine Ludwig (Executive Director, Creative Time); and Thierry Ollat (Director, mac Marseille)

Published in association with five major museums: MAXXI Museum, Rome; The Bass, Miami; mac Marseille, France; The Andy Warhol Museum, Pittsburgh; and the Anchorage Museum, Alaska

Pivi is represented by Perrotin in New York, Paris, Hong Kong, Seoul, Tokyo, and Shanghai, and Massimo De Carlo in Milan, London, and Hong Kong

Jean Jullien

With an introduction by Alice van den Abeele and Raphaël Cruypt, and an afterword by Sarah Andelman

The debut monograph on the globally-lauded artist, filled with his joyful, witty paintings, illustrations, collaborations, and more

Jean Jullien's work is instantly recognizable and wide in its scope. Known for his astutely observed and witty depictions of everyday life, his illustrations place expressive characters in relatable environments and act as a visual commentary on life. Organized in three sections – Personal, Collaboration, and Public – this fulsome book explores Jullien's approach to art and covers his expansive career, from his earliest creative partnerships to his progression into painting, while also offering a first-hand look at his process with sketches and never-before-seen works.

Jean Jullien is a prolific and beloved French graphic-design artist. His creative output ranges from illustration, photography, and video to costumes, installations, books, posters, clothing, and even skateboards. Jullien's work appears in the New Yorker, the New York Times, and the Guardian, and he has collaborated with Tate, Channel 4, Nike, BMW, and Colette, among many global brands.

Key Selling Points

- Jean Jullien is a global superstar with a dedicated fan base of more than 1.2 million Instagram followers
- His work stands out for its wit, universality, and simplicity – his use of color and depiction of daily life appeal to a wide, diverse audience
- Jullien's exhibitions have packed galleries in New York, San Francisco, Los Angeles, London, Paris, Berlin, Tokyo, Seoul, Singapore, and beyond
- Recognized worldwide for collaborations with hundreds of brands and publications, including Champion USA, Hermès, Le Bon Marché, Mr. Porter, National Geographic, RCA Records, and Vogue

Nicolas Party

Contemporary Artists Series

Stéphane Aquin, Stefan Banz, Ali Subotnick, Melissa Hyde

The first and highly-anticipated monograph on one of the most successful and exciting painters today

Swiss-born Nicolas Party is an artist known for his color-saturated paintings of everyday objects. He captures the essence of his subjects in surprising ways, heightening their physical and emotional resonance. Fascinated by the power of paint to alter our perception of the built environment and, within a gallery context, how we experience art, Party regularly paints murals, either as stand-alone works or as carefully orchestrated settings for his work. This is the first book to examine his career to date and will be a must-read for collectors and followers of the contemporary art scene.

Stéphane Aquin is the Director of the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts. Artist and writer Stefan Banz was the Director of the Kunsthalle Marcel Duchamp in Cully, Switzerland. Ali Subotnick is a writer and curator based in Los Angeles. Melissa Hyde is associate professor of art history at the University of Florida in Gainesville.

Key Selling Points

- Party has created a distinctly personal yet very accessible and recognizable imagery – bright, graphic patterns applied to canvases, ceramics, furniture, floors, ceilings, doorways, and walls
- In 2018 one of Party's paintings was auctioned for $1.8 million at Sotheby's, New York
- This is the first-ever book dedicated to his practice and will be greatly valued by his fans and collectors of his work
- Party is the latest painter to feature in Phaidon's acclaimed Contemporary Artists series; painting is the series's most popular medium, with bestselling titles from Alex Katz to Jonas Wood
- Party is represented by Hauser & Wirth, globally; Gregor Steiger, Zurich; Kaufmann Repetto, Milan; Karma, New York; and Modern Institute, Glasgow

'Whether he's screen-printing posters, creating an impractical, too-big book incorporating other artists' text, or designing a jazz festival's promotional poster, Nicolas Party is always operating in painting's slipstream; its processes and techniques are never far from his mind'. – Frieze

'There is a connection between Nicolas Party's work and "very well-known, well-respected, recognized artists" from René Magritte to David Hockney, that makes it feel both new and familiar.' – Phillips

'Established collectors and new market entrants alike are scrambling to get their hands on Nicolas Party's work.' – Artnet

'With crisp, saturated graphics, Nicolas Party moves through the genres of portraiture, landscape, and still life, keeping each categorically distinct, and keeping it all contemporary by borrowing art-historical styles with post-internet abandon.' – Artforum

Lorna Simpson

Contemporary Artists Series, revised and expanded edition

Thelma Golden, Kellie Jones, Chrissie Iles, Naomi Beckwith

The ultimate monograph on the work of celebrated artist Lorna Simpson, a trailblazer who continues to influence and inspire

Lorna Simpson is a multimedia artist known for her pioneering approach to conceptual photography. In 1993 Simpson was the first African-American woman ever to show in the Venice Biennale and to have a solo exhibition at the Museum of Modern Art, New York. This landmark book documents Simpson's career in its entirety, up to her most recent work. In doing so, it sheds light on the remarkable path that Simpson paved to global critical acclaim and art-world stardom.

Naomi Beckwith is deputy director and senior curator at the Solomon R. Guggenheim Museum, New York. Thelma Golden is Director of The Studio Museum in Harlem, New York. Chrissie Iles is a curator at the Whitney Museum of American Art in New York. Kellie Jones is Professor in Art History and Archaeology and the Institute for Research in African American Studies at Columbia University.

Key Selling Points

- The most comprehensive, up-to-date book on the work of this ground-breaking female artist, who received the prestigious J. Paul Getty Medal in 2019
- Simpson's fragmented photographs, combining images with text, create quietly intriguing works that reflect a portion of society rarely represented in art
- Simpson's work is particularly resonant with the current sociopolitical climate in the United States, and is found in many museum collections and featured in exhibitions around the world
- Phaidon's original monograph on Simpson – published in 2002 and arguably the most respected publication on her practice – is currently out of print
- Simpson is represented by Hauser & Wirth (New York, London, Zurich, Hong Kong, and Somerset)

The first-ever monograph on the life and work of celebrated Danish-American mid-century furniture designer Jens Risom

The first authoritative biography of a key figure in mid-century modern design: Jens Risom, who was one of the first designers to introduce Scandinavian design to the United States. In 1942 Risom's designs formed the majority of the inaugural collection of original furniture for the iconic Hans Knoll Furniture Company. Organised chronologically, the book covers Risom's education in Denmark, early collaborations with Georg Jensen and Hans Knoll, the creation of his own company – Jens Risom Design – his celebrated prefab house on Block Island, RI, as well as his legacy and presence in the 21st century.

Vicky Lowry is a writer, editor, and the former special-projects director at Architectural Digest and features director of Elle Decor, Veranda, and House Beautiful. She contributes to publications including Travel + Leisure, Food & Wine, and Galerie.

Key Selling Points

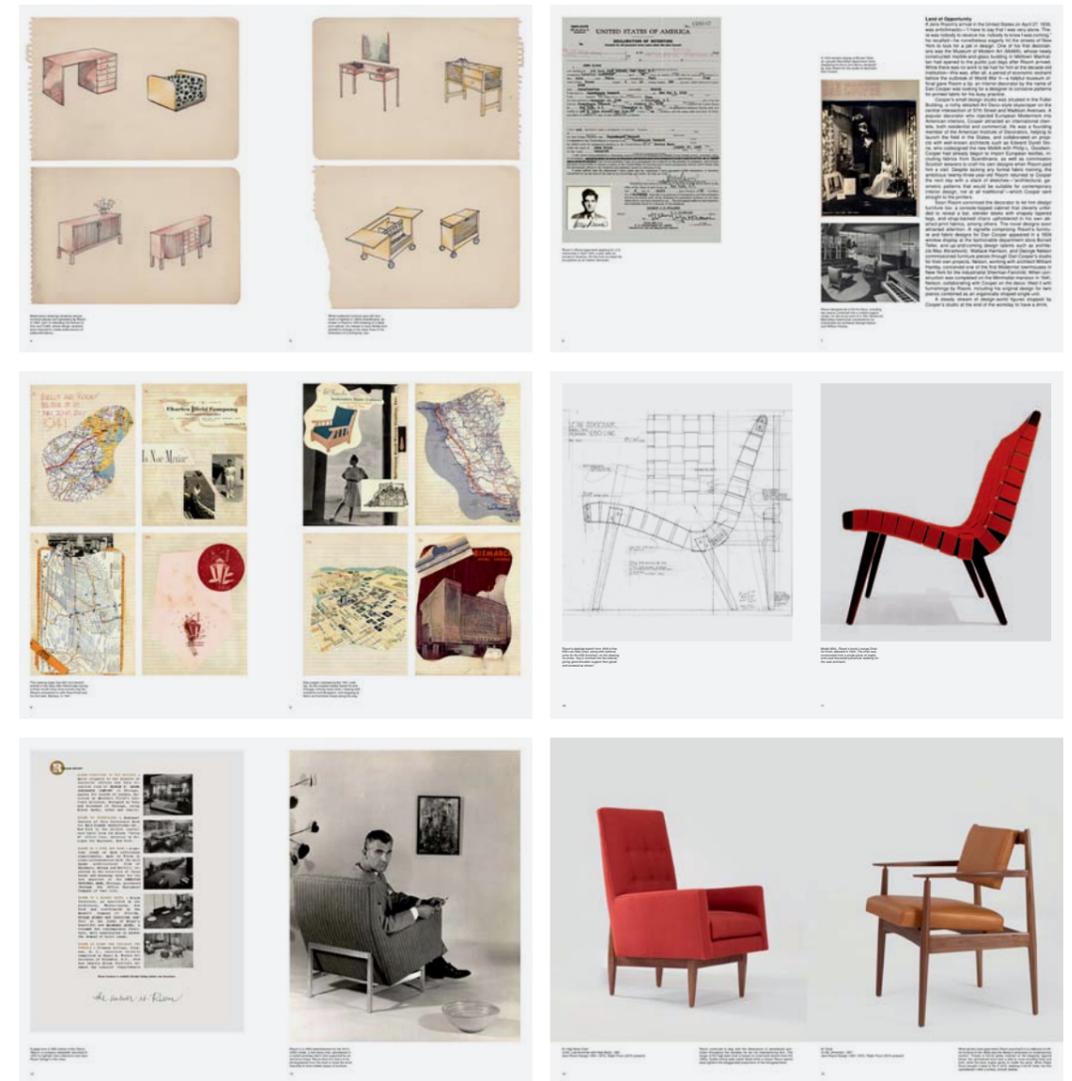

- The first and only monograph on Jens Risom, an icon of mid-century modern design
- Includes never-before-seen sketches, archival photography, and correspondence as well as an illustrated inventory of Risom's designs

'He romanticized the freedom and the openness of America, and that's what's so wonderful about his furniture.'
– Wendy Goodman, design editor
New York magazine

'It's no secret we're big fans of Jens Risom.'
– *Wallpaper

'Risom's work helped pave the way for the emergence of mid-century modern design.'
– Architect's Newspaper

'The large number of Risom creations still in production . . . proves how successful he was at popularising modernity, reflecting his maxim: "Anything good will go well with other equally good things."
– Elle Decoration

'Risom's refined point of view, which emphasized function and comfort without compromising style, introduced a slightly softer take on Scandinavian minimalism to the U.S. market, where it accordingly found great success.'

Faye Toogood

Drawing, Material, Sculpture, Landscape

Edited by Alistair O'Neill

The first in-depth look at the work of globally celebrated multidisciplinary London-based designer Faye Toogood

Faye Toogood is unlike any other designer. Her impressive creative output encompasses not only furniture, but sculpture, fashion, interiors, and homeware. This book is the first to explore Toogood's unique approach to design across disciplines through the studio's three guiding principles: material, sculpture, and landscape. In doing so it not only reveals the fascinating creative process behind Toogood's beautiful designs, but also illustrates the interconnectedness of her design across a range of practices together with the poetry that flows throughout her work.

Faye Toogood is a British artist working in a diverse range of disciplines, from sculpture to furniture and fashion. Toogood's works have been acquired for the permanent collections of institutions worldwide, and she has exhibited internationally. She is represented by Friedman Benda in New York.

Alistair O'Neill is professor of Fashion History and Theory at Central Saint Martins, University of the Arts London, and writes on contemporary fashion.

Key Selling Points

- A personal, contextual, and process-driven account of the working practice of a female-led studio
- Filled with never-before-published images, this book is the first to cover all aspects of her work
- Features collaborations with, and commissions for, brands such as Birkenstock, Carhartt WIP, Comme des Garçons, Dover Street Market, Hermès, Mulberry, and the National Gallery Victoria
- The interdisciplinary nature of Toogood's work appeals to a wide range of design professionals – architects, designers, and makers – as well as to collectors and everyone interested in world-class contemporary design and craftsmanship
- Her work features in museums around the world, from London, New York, Seoul, and St Petersburg, to Melbourne

The first ever monograph on award-winning designer Luca Nichetto's eponymous studio

With offices in Venice and Stockholm, Nichetto Studio combines Italian flair with Scandinavian modernity to produce innovative commissions for brands including Hermès, Venini, Cassina, and ZaoZuo. This book presents the Studio's portfolio in chronological order from 2000 to the present, highlighting key projects throughout. The studio's focus on craftsmanship and collaboration is magnified through interviews with designers such as Oki Sato and Nichetto himself. More than 400 photographs and sketches paint a fascinating portrait of a trailblazing contemporary design practice.

Luca Nichetto is a multidisciplinary designer whose work encompasses furniture, industrial design, architecture, and interiors. Max Fraser has authored multiple design books and regularly speaks on the subject for international events and broadcasters. Francesca Picchi is an architect, journalist, and curator. She has contributed to Phaidon publications including Ettore Sottsass (2017).

Key Selling Points

- The first monograph on a vibrant Italian designer who tests the boundaries of craftsmanship and innovation
- With more than 500 images including behind-the-scenes photography and work-in-progress sketches
- Organised chronologically, this book is a complete overview of Nichetto's work from 2000 to the present
- Key projects are accompanied by an extended text and include commissions such as a 2022 custom piano for renowned manufacturer Steinway & Sons and a 2018 collaboration with nendo
- Features 12 interviews with industry figures such as architect Eero Koivisto, designer Oki Sato, and curator Beatrice Leanza
- Reads as a 'Who's Who' of cool brands including Cassina, Ginori 1735, Hem, Venini, and Hermès

The ECAL Manual of Style

How to best teach design today?

Edited by Jonathan Olivares

The story of one of the world's most creative design schools, as told by its teachers, alumni, and student projects

Swiss university ECAL is widely considered to be among the leading art and design institutions of the past two decades. Here, for the first time, ECAL's teaching methods are revealed to a wider readership. The book poses the question 'How should design be taught today?' to selected designers, critics, and writers, and the answers highlight the school's unique approach to design pedagogy: encouraging individual and personal styles, and rigorously pushing them to develop into their most coherent forms.

Jonathan Olivares is an American designer and writer. His recent projects include Camper's store at the Rockefeller Center (2019); the Vitra Workspace, an office furniture showroom and learning environment (Vitra, 2015); the exhibition Source Material, curated with Jasper Morrison and Marco Velardi (2014); and the Olivares Aluminum Chair (Knoll, 2012).

Key Selling Points

- A fascinating deep-dive into ECAL's teaching methodology – brought to life via a curated collection of its most innovative student projects
- Valuable, inspiring contributions by internationally renowned designers and writers including Jasper Morrison, the Bouroullec brothers, Alice Rawsthorn, Deyan Sudjic, and Patricia Urquiola
- Explains the ECAL teaching method, which pushes its students to develop their creativity in a professional way – and expands its audience to designers and design scholars worldwide
- Published to coincide with the 2022 ECAL exhibition at the Salone in Milan, one of the highlights of the furniture fair

'A ever-growing heavyweight in the European sphere, this Swiss school continually turns out grads with top-notch portfolios, many of whom quickly launch their own studios.'
– Azure

'The design school ECAL is a university with a reputation that is revered the world over. It's the Oxbridge, the Harvard, or the MIT of the design world, producing graduates with work of the highest standard, in both an aesthetic and theoretical sense.'
– Calum Douglas, It's nice that

'Over the years, ECAL has considerably increased the number of its collaborations with art and design colleges around the world and leading companies in the most diverse fields.'

Yves Saint Laurent Museum Marrakech

Studio KO

A fascinating account of the story of the Yves Saint Laurent Museum in Marrakech – and a gorgeous homage to creativity

Conceived as a candid diary, this remarkable book documents the 1,423 days that it took to design, build, and inaugurate a beloved architecture and fashion destination. From the moment the up-and-coming French-Moroccan practice Studio KO received a call from YSL's longtime partner Pierre Bergé to the opening of the museum's doors in 2017, one month after Bergé died, the entire process of bringing the building to life – its commission, the creative process behind it, and its construction – is told and illustrated here as never before.

Based in Paris and Marrakech and founded in 2000 by Karl Fournier and Olivier Marty, Studio KO is one of the most interesting upcoming architecture and interior design practices working today. Renowned for their minimalist aesthetic and attention to craftsmanship and local skills, the duo creates contemporary public and residential architecture all over the world.

Key Selling Points

- A fascinating account of the making of a 'destination museum' that celebrates architecture, design, and fashion through the work of one of the greatest creatives of our time
- An intriguing behind-the-scenes record of the creative process of Studio KO, from their first sketch to the selection of the perfect bricks for the lace-like covered facade, and the design of the auditorium seats
- A wealth of images blends traditional architectural documentation with snapshots of meetings with the clients, the museum director, and the many collaborators, together with photographs of the garden, as well as of the museum's stunning displays of art and couture
- A captivating story of the unique relationship between architects and their clients, the prerequisite ingredient to truly groundbreaking built work

'Dynamic duo Karl Fournier and Olivier Marty are the brains behind Studio KO – the sought-after architecture practice with offices in Paris, London, and Marrakesh. Founded in 2000, the studio swiftly rose to architectural prominence, designing considered, tactile compositions in concrete, glass, and local and natural materials, while building a striking clientele list, counting Francis Ford Coppola, André Balazs, Marella Agnelli, Balmain, and AESOP in its books.' – *Wallpaper

'A temple to the fashion designer's legacy in his cherished Marrakech . . . Purity of line reigns, with contrasting walls of terrazzo, concrete, and terracotta bricks, and a round central atrium that's all but empty, open to the sky.' – Architectural Digest

'As soon as I met them several years ago, I was immediately impressed by their uncompromising discourse and the integrity with which they spoke of their profession.' – Pierre Bergé on Studio KO

Louis I Kahn
 Revised and expanded edition
 Robert McCarter

A thoroughly updated and redesigned edition of McCarter's esteemed monograph on the globally-revered modern master

Louis I Kahn was one of the greatest influences on post-WWII world architecture, and in the twenty-first century his significance has skyrocketed. In this revised, expanded, and redesigned edition of Phaidon's bestselling and critically-acclaimed monograph, Robert McCarter explores how Kahn redefined Modern architecture – and why his work remains a fundamental source today. Extensively illustrated, this comprehensive overview includes both built and unbuilt projects, as well as a project realized forty years after Kahn's death – New York City's Four Freedoms Park.

Robert McCarter is a practicing architect and Ruth and Norman Moore Professor of Architecture at Washington University in St. Louis. His many books include Grafton Architects (2018); Marcel Breuer (2016); Steven Holl (2015); Alvar Aalto (2014) and Carlo Scarpa (2013), all published by Phaidon.

Key Selling Points

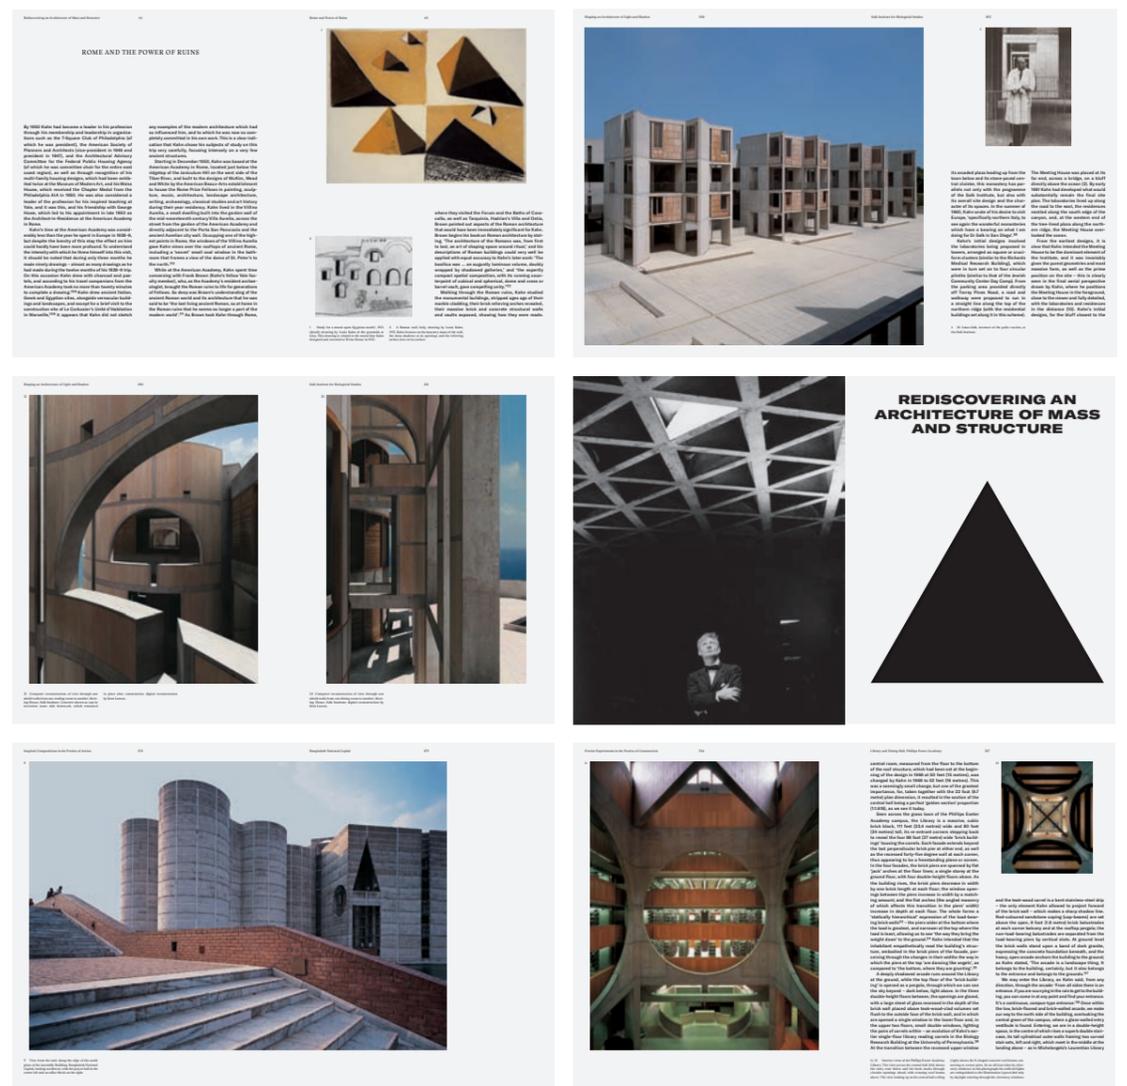

- An indispensable reference work on one of the most important figures in 20th-century architecture
- Analyzes each of Kahn's major buildings from the design process, methods, and materials of construction, to 'walk-throughs' of the spaces
- Includes selected writings by Kahn and the complete chronology of Kahn's projects, compiled by William Whitaker, Barton and Victoria Myers Director of the Architectural Archives of the University of Pennsylvania Weltzman School of Design
- Features such well-known buildings as Yale Art Gallery, Kimbell Art Museum, and the Salk Institute, along with his work in India and Bangladesh
- Each project is illustrated with photographs and drawings that convey the spirit of Kahn's work, as well as the inspirations that led to the design

What a Shell Can Tell

Helen Scales, illustrated by Sonia Pulido

A stunning, lavishly illustrated, and information-packed introduction to the wonder of seashells through the art of observation

Award-winning marine biologist Helen Scales introduces children to the wonders of shells (from seashells to land snails) through the art of observation. Starting in a friendly question-and-answer format, she explores, through a richly sensory experience, the incredible diversity of shells around the world and showcases the environments molluscs inhabit. From what a shell's shape, color, or texture can reveal about its inhabitant, to where shells are found (from the deepest seas to jungly treetops), with this book, readers can get up close with nature to observe its wonders.

Key Selling Points

The first in a series of visually stunning, scientifically engaging books that explore the natural world through the beautiful everyday objects found in nature around the globe

With a timely message of environmental stewardship combined with stunning illustrations, this book is perfect for budding naturalists, scientists, and for all kinds of curious minds

The book expands on a child's natural instinct for collecting things, nurturing their interest and curiosity in nature by giving them simple observation skills that will help them to explore the connections between objects found in nature and the wider ecosystem

Shell collections are a commonly-found feature in natural-history museums worldwide, and shell collecting is a popular pastime across all ages – this is the first-ever book on shells for this age group

Excellent for the biology and oceanography curriculum tie-ins for schools and libraries, as well as for summer promotions and resort retail – this book taps into today's popular market for all things aesthetically nautical

Our Seasons

The World in Winter, Spring, Summer, and Autumn

Sue Lowell Gallion, illustrated by Lisk Feng

A companion to the bestselling Our World – an introduction to the world's seasons that, after reading, transforms into a 3D globe

The youngest readers are invited to identify and experience the Earth's amazing seasons around the globe through rhyming verse and lush illustrations: frosty winter, blossoming spring, bountiful summer, colorful autumn. Secondary text offers detailed curriculum-focused facts that encourage children to consider their own environments, making the experience personal yet set within a global backdrop. This informative homage to Earth's seasons is sure to inspire children to learn more about their planet – and to engage with the world around them.

Sue Lowell Gallion is a Kansas City-based award-winning children's book author. Her books include Our World: A First Book of Geography and the Pug and Pig series, among others.

Lisk Feng is an award-winning illustrator from China and a graduate of the Maryland Institute College of Art. She has worked as a commercial illustrator for such clients as the New Yorker, the New York Times, and Chanel.

Key Selling Points

- An artful, interactive introductory reference guide to the seasons for the youngest children
- A fresh, global answer to the market trend for books about the seasons, covering both the Northern and Southern Hemispheres, as well as how seasons are not the same everywhere on Earth
- A sturdy and gorgeous gift, perfect for the current hunger for books on ecology and the planet, featuring frame-worthy art that stands out on shelf
- A unique carousel-format novelty board book that can be opened and folded back to create a freestanding globe using its integrated magnetic closure – just like its predecessor Our World: A First Book of Geography (20,000 copies sold in first year of publication)
- The perfect gift for explorers of all ages

Children's Books

We Are Shapes

Melinda Beck

A vibrant and inclusive board book about teamwork by a two-time Emmy-nominated children's content creator at Nickelodeon

This clever board book teaches a dual lesson: as children are introduced to shapes, they are also taught interpersonal development. An adorable cast of characters – square, rectangle, triangle, circle, but also squiggly and lumpy – come together to build a house. Each shape contributes its unique quality, and collectively they achieve something that they could not do alone. Visually inspired by the children's books created by Russian Constructivists, this charming book teaches young readers everywhere that we are far stronger together than alone.

Melinda Beck was an animator, illustrator, and designer for 15 years for Nickelodeon, the most popular children's network in America, where her work was enjoyed daily by millions of viewers. Her work is in the collections of the New York Public Library and the Library of Congress. A graduate of the Rhode Island School of Design, she has taught and lectured at the Parsons School of Design.

Key Selling Points

- According to Nielsen, the board-book market has shown consistent growth for six consecutive years with no signs of stopping
- With the pandemic having limited children's play time at school and with friends, books such as We Are Shapes, which emphasize interpersonal relationships as well as the fundamentals of learning, are needed now more than ever
- This book follows in Phaidon's tradition of strong shape-concept books that includes The Game of Shapes, Circle, Triangle, Elephant!, Circle Rolls, and Squares and Other Shapes with Josef Albers
- Beck has illustrated books and book covers for Random House, Simon & Schuster, and Macmillan and created award-winning artwork for Nike, Sesame Street, the New Yorker, and the New York Times

'You've seen her work in the New York Times and the New Yorker; for Target, Nike, and Nickelodeon; and front and center for some of our country's most pressing political and social discussions. [...] Her journey has been an unusual and winding one: from corporate design to hard hitting political illustration, children's animation and art for bands from the local New York music scene, all while raising two children.' – AIGA

'Prodigy is a word that comes to mind . . . It's not every kid that takes a life drawing course at the prestigious New York Art Students' League, at the age of twelve.' – Communication Arts

'Melinda Beck creates a lot of her own hand-done typography. I didn't realize that I had seen some of her work from Noggin, the version of Nickelodeon for a younger audience. She created the cute, collaged characters for the animations she made.' – ABCDEFridays
